

MOUNTAINEER EXTRA.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, SATURDAY, MAY 26, 5 P.M.

ANXIOUS to furnish our contributors with the latest news, we have issued an extra, for the news contained in which we are indebted to our friend Major Egan.

It is to be hoped that the troops, ordered in the direction of the difficulties, will be more prompt than is customary with the "regulars" in the discharge of their duties. What is the utility of the pomp and parade that is practiced in our regular forts? Why are not the troops of the United States where they are wanted, instead of being decently, comfortably, and safely quartered in the centre of barricades of settlements?

A march of troops is ordered by the Department Commander, but as usual, we anticipate, behind time.

CAMP FLOYD, May 25, 1860.

EDITORS MOUNTAINEER:

DEAR SIR:—Enclosed you will find a slip from the Sacramento Union, which I received by Pony Express late this evening. Upon my arrival at Camp Floyd, I presented my letter from Gov. Cumming for a requisition for troops to Col. Smith. I was received with kindness and courtesy by the Col., who realized in a moment the necessity of rendering us immediate assistance, and in less than ten minutes issued an order to mount twenty of the light battery, commanded by 1st Lt. S. H. Weed to accompany me early in the morning, and also forty more under the command of 1st Lt. Perkins to follow on the next day. The Col. regretted much that he had not more men to assist in protecting the mail route, as the dragoons had already been ordered to proceed to the neighborhood of Fort Hall, for the protection of emigrants on the northern route, and had no more infantry on hand than was sufficient to guard the public stores; hence he was compelled to mount the light battery for this expedition. * * I have learned by the Express that the Indians have made an attack on the Dugway Station (70 miles from this point). I fear there is trouble ahead; however, I shall keep you posted by every favorable opportunity.

Yours in haste,
HOWARD EGAN.

THE CARSON VALLEY MASSACRE.

FURTHER DETAILS.

We give below some further particulars in relation to the late massacre, and also in reference to the material aid which is being furnished in this State. It is very difficult to obtain from Virginia City, such is the uncertainty prevailing there in regard to the details of the fight, a definite account of the killed and wounded.

We learn that W. F. Anderson, of Nevada, is safe.

A dispatch from John Leach, at Virginia City, to E. E. Eyre, at noon yesterday, states that there are no hopes of R. N. Snowden, jr., living.

A dispatch from Carson City, from Harvey Lee, at noon yesterday, says that all was quiet up to that time. "We expect," says he, "an attack before arms arrive."

A telegraph, received yesterday, states that Wm. S. Arminton, a resident of Yolo county, was killed, and that John Tenbroeck and L. Spurr, also residents of Yolo, were safe.

John Nugent telegraphed from Virginia City last evening that young Baldwin was safe, and in Virginia City.

L. B. Richardson telegraphs from Placerville that the arms and ammunition which started from Sacramento, Sunday, left Placerville at 11 o'clock a.m., yesterday, with an escort of one hundred men. The arms and ammunition were placed on pack mules. E. J. Sanders sent for additional ammunition.

Captain Van Hagan and his company left Nevada at two o'clock yesterday morning.

J. P. Haven, Acting Adjutant General, sent a dispatch yesterday from Benicia to General Curtis, stating that he was off with five hundred stand of arms and necessary ammunition, and requesting that means of transportation be provided.

Three companies of United States troops, numbering one hundred and sixty men, left San Francisco last evening in the boat for Sacramento, and Alexander M. Hayden, of Wells, Fargo & Co. here, was telegraphed to make a contract with the Sacramento Railroad Company for their transportation as early as eight o'clock a.m. The same, in substance, has been transmitted to General N. G. Curtis. It is understood that the men are to be forwarded to Placerville this morning.

A dispatch has been received by J. W. Coffroth, of this city, from John A. Freeman, and in accordance with our supposition yesterday, he is still alive and well.

Another dispatch states that Dr. Teagarden, and Major Ormsby are really killed.

General Curtis received last evening the following dispatch from Governor Downey:

"SAN FRANCISCO, May 13th—5.25 p. m.

"To N. G. CURTIS or J. FRICK:—I am coming up to-night. No State troops; men are not needed. Do nothing till I arrive."

"DOWNNEY."

The See of last evening has the following dispatch, dated at Carson City, May 14th, and bringing its intelligence up to 2 o'clock.

"The reports of yesterday are confirmed. At least sixty or seventy must have been killed. The force which left Downeyville on the Honey Lake route, it is feared, will be cut off. Captain Joe, of the Washoe tribe, has come in and surrendered nine guns to Captain Proctor, which is evidence that he desires peace. This will subject the Washoes to the bitterest treatment of the Pah-Utes and Shoshones."

"Carson City and Virginia, are not generally considered in danger of an attack."

"All the parties outside are pouring into the towns and settlements, so as to concentrate their strength."

"No arms or ammunition have yet arrived, although a large quantity of both are needed."

"The Indians are gathering a great force, and are determined to clean the whites out of this country. The Pitt River Indians are supposed to be with them; and the rumor that the Salt Lake bands are with them is also confirmed."

"W. Wasson and others have gone to Long Valley to warn the inhabitants there."

"Couriers have been sent in all directions for like purposes and to watch the Indians."

"Arrington, who was brought in wounded yesterday, died last night."

"Seventeen of the party are known to be in the mountains and are expected home. Ben Holladay's dispatch from M. C. Marley, his agent, says that sixty men have been killed."

A dispatch from young Baldwin to his father, dated at Virginia City last evening, says:

"I have arrived here in safety, but had a narrow escape. I saw Meredith die. I lost my mule, and dodged the Indians until night, when we started for camp."

A dispatch from Dr. Bell says that "young Baldwin received merely a confusion from a ball over the region of the heart. No danger."

A dispatch from T. D. Johns to N. Greene Curtis, dated Virginia City at ten o'clock last evening, says:

"We have men enough for any emergency. Arms only are wanted for the present. Two companies of volunteers and three of regulars are enough for this point. Provisions and barley will be scarce. Every possible precaution has been taken, and there are eight hundred stand of arms on different routes for here, and all will be in within four days. Indians are near at this time."

There was a great stir all day yesterday in military circles. The ranks of the two organized companies, the Sutter Rifles, commanded by Captain E. E. Eyre, and the City Guard, by Captain Joseph Howell, having been thinned by the Washoe fever, rolls were opened for volunteers to fill the rank and file. Both companies before noon were announced as full, and old and new members hold themselves ready at any moment to march as volunteers.

Sutter Rifles.—E. E. Eyre, Captain commanding; C. J. Torbert, First Lieutenant; John Rosenbucher, Second Lieutenant; J. O. Keenan, Orderly Sergeant, and twenty-four privates here and in Virginia City. Volunteers—John H. Lewis, T. A. Jackson, T. S. Harris, C. S. Fairfax, and forty-five others—making in all eighty-one members, rank and file.

City Guard.—The roll of this company is full, and the following officers are in command: Captain, Joseph Howell; First Lieutenant, L. Powers; Second Lieutenant, S. P. Ford; brevet Second Lieutenant, C. H. Cummings; Orderly Sergeant, H. A. Burnett; Second Sergeant, B. B. Vandenberg; Third Sergeant, H. W. Bragg; Fourth Sergeant, C. C. Warner; Quartermaster Sergeant, W. C. Budd; First Corporal, John Slocum; Second Corporal, H. L. Sanders; Third Corporal, A. K. Vandaveer; Fourth Corporal, A. W. Starr; and about seventy-five privates, regulars and volunteers.

If the emergency arrives, and the people of Virginia City should be reported as in danger of being massacred, a volunteer force of over one thousand men would without difficulty or delay be raised in Sacramento.

LATEST DISPATCHES FROM CARSON VALLEY.

PARTICULARS OF THE FIGHT.

VIRGINIA CITY, May 14, 10 p.m.

There were one hundred and six men engaged in the battle—eighty under Ormsby and twenty-six under McDonald. They followed the Indian trail from Williams' station, Carson river, to the Truckee, and down the Truckee through the pass to within four miles of Pyramid Lake. They attacked the Indians and broke their lines, but were forced back to the river, though they charged them again and again. Some whites fled at the first fire.

There were five hundred Indians, well mounted and armed with rifles. The whites then retreated and forced the pass. Many were killed on the retreat. They scattered in the mountains, completely routed. The baggage, mules, provisions and arms were mostly lost. Stragglers are coming in ever since.

Eighty-two names of those engaged are known. Not half as many were killed as thought at first. We have no returns, as yet, from the Silver City and Genoa companies. A full dispatch, with names of the killed, saved and missing, will be sent to-morrow.

Much excitement prevails all through the Territory—at Carson, Genoa, the Black Rock country, Honey Lake Valley, etc. All ranchmen, miners and others, outside, are removing to the towns. Some settlements have fears of an attack, but we do not anticipate any here.

The Shoshones, Snake Creek, Pitt River and Pah-Ute Indians are the tribes supposed to have been engaged in the fight.

Parties have been out in the mountains all day, in hopes of meeting those that may have escaped.

A great feeling of relief is felt at the prospect of speedy assistance from California.

The following dispatch was telegraphed to the Sacramento Executive Committee by W. F. Anderson:

"VIRGINIA CITY, May 14th, 11 1/2 p.m.

"We cannot give the killed. Ormsby, Meredith and Kelly, are known to have been killed. The missing now are about twenty-five—hope some will be saved. Baldwin's brave boy came in to-day, unhurt. We have no arms to go out, or even for defense. We are apprehensive of an attack, but have no information. All the people have gathered into the towns. We have at least 1,500 men at this place. Johns informs me that eight hundred stand of arms are on the way, and one hundred and fifty regulars of the Army at Sacramento; with them we have men enough, if we have proper arms. There is no danger of parties to our relief being interrupted by the route. The Indians are about Pyramid Lake and the Truckee. Whatever is done should be done quickly. If the Indians knew our condition we should doubtless be attacked at once. Will send to-morrow."

W. F. ANDERSON."
